

RTS28 - ANNUAL EXECUTION VENUES REPORT & EXECUTION QUALITY SUMMARY
STATEMENT for 2019 (Retail Clients)

Under the Regulatory Technical Standards (RTS) 28 supplementing Directive 2014/65/EU on markets in financial instruments (MiFID II) requires Goldenway Global Investments (UK) Limited (“GGIL”) to publish on an annual basis, for each class of financial instruments the top five execution venues in terms of trading volumes where they executed client orders in the preceding year and information on the quality of execution obtained.

Quality of execution:

There is set out below a summary of the analysis and conclusions drawn from the detailed monitoring of the quality of execution obtained on the execution venues where client orders have been executed during 2019 for GGIL.

During the relevant period, GGIL has provided an online trading platform for allowing its clients to trade CFDs. It has provided solely one class of financial instruments.

In relation to each CFD transaction, GGIL acts as principal on a matched principal basis. This means that on entering into a transaction, it will enter into a back-to-back transaction with its liquidity provider on the same terms.

As a result, a client will be dealing with GGIL and not the underlying market. The liquidity provider may either act as a market maker in relation to the particular transaction or enter into a transaction in similar terms with another liquidity provider or MTF/OTF or equivalent in a non-EEA jurisdiction.

Our Order Execution Policy describes the principles and approach that we follow when we execute orders and should be referred to when reviewing this RTS 28 Report. The principles ensure that for retail clients, we take all sufficient, steps to obtain the best possible result (best execution) taking into consideration the relative importance of the execution factors according to price, cost, speed, likelihood of execution and size and nature and any other relevant factors.

c) a description of any specific arrangements with any execution venues regarding payments made or received discounts, rebates or non-monetary benefits received;

GGIL receives remuneration via rebates from the liquidity providers for the volumes transacted by its retail clients.

d) an explanation of the factors that led to a change in the list of execution venues listed in the firm's execution policy, if such a change occurred;

No change in 2019.

e) an explanation of how order execution differs according to client categorisation, where the firm treats categories of clients differently and where it may affect the order execution arrangements;

For retail clients, the best possible result will always be determined in terms of total consideration, being the price of the financial instrument together with costs relating to execution, including all expenses incurred by the client that are directly related to the execution of the order.

However, if you as a retail client provide us with instructions regarding an order or any aspect of an order, we will execute the order in accordance with such instructions to the extent reasonably possible, which may prevent us from taking the steps to execute at the best prices and/or costs.

For professional clients in certain cases that the full execution or the likelihood of execution was more important to the client than the price.

f) an explanation of whether other criteria were given precedence over immediate price and cost when executing retail client orders and how these other criteria were instrumental in delivering the best possible result in terms of total consideration for the client;

Clients categorised as retail clients, GGIL, is required to put in place an order execution policy and to take sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result (best execution).

g) an explanation of how the investment firm has used any data or tools relating to the quality of execution, including any data published under the Common Delegated Regulation (EU) 2017/575;

No data relating to the regulatory quality of execution reports (RTS27) is available from execution venues. Therefore, these, have not been factored into our assessments of execution venues.

Instead, GGIL relied on prices sourced from available liquidity providers for purposes of monitoring best execution.

h) Where applicable, an explanation of how the investment firm has used output of consolidated tape provider established under Article 65 of Directive 2014/65/EU.

GGIL does not make use of the output of a consolidated tape provider.
